Kate Bosworth GET HER LOOK

Awards season means it's all hands on deck for celebrity beauty squads, and Kate Bosworth's mane man was at the ready. Michael Silva, who has tamed the tresses of Eva Longoria, Kim Kardashian and Drew Barrymore, arrived at the Sunset Tower Hotel to prep the star of The I-Land for InStyle's glamorous Golden Globes after-party. With the help of a shine-boosting serum and a flat iron, he coaxed every strand into submission before clipping in extensions at the crown and pulling her hair back into a slick ponytail. He wound two glossy sections around each other, fastened with an elastic and locked in the look with a high-hold hairspray. Kate, 37, described it best: "Hollywood glam... with a twist." H
